Development Details.

Development work (modifications and programming) is generally based on estimates and are subject to a separate agreement specifying the work required, time schedules, cost estimates and other relevant matters.

Specification:

100% before commencement of work.

Development:

Nakshatra employs professional programmer or software developer's that in conjunction with the consultant customized software applications written around and integrating with Tally software that Nakshatra sells to produce a high conformity to task solutions.

All software customization starts its life cycle as written specifications called "Customization Request― i.e. CR. The client and Nakshatra agree to the content of this document and the programmer produces the programs in accordance with the SPR.

On completion of the work, the client is provided with the end result and participates in the testing cycle.

3/4 days following the receipt of this software there is no charge to the client for "bug― or fault fixing. (Bug or fault is defined as a deviation from the desired results which have been already defined before commencement of work). Should there be additional work required during this and other phases or life cycle of the customized software then new CR or variations are agreed upon and developed.

All intellectual property and source code ownership remains the property of Nakshatra Technologies unless specifically agreed to by Nakshatra Sales & Services and the client prior to development work proceeds.
